Betty wakes up early in the morning and flies from her beehive to a garden everyday. The garden is not far from where she lives and there are many beautiful flowers there.

In the garden, Betty flies from one flower to another to collect nectar. She is very hard working and does not stop working even when she is tired. She rests only when the sun goes down.

When Betty has collected enough nectar, she will fly back to her beehive. In the beehive, Betty makes honey from the nectar that she collects. Betty then rests and leaves her beehive again the next morning to collect more nectar.
